THE SNIPE WERE SCARCE

A YOUNG BOOKKEEPER HUNTS THEM ON PUNCHBOWL.

Three Midnight Hours With Lantern And Bag But No Results—Caper of "The Boys."

The fellow that concluded that all people had been snipe hunting, or had laughed at the expense of a friend who had enjoyed this privilege, will have to change his dates; for last night a King street bookkeeper, a bright, big-hearted, excellent young fellow, went out with lantern and gunny sack to bag the wily marsh bird. He spent three midnight hours in the copse on Punchbowl, and then stole quietly home. His game bag was empty, and he was tired. Friends chuckled gleefully in adjoining rooms at the boarding house, but the snipe hunter could not appreciate the joke and does not yet appreciate it. The "job" was arranged some days ago, from all accounts, and was systematically brought to a focus. It seems that the young man is inclined to hunting but has had little experience. The stories of snipe coverts in Punchbowl fell, therefore, on good ears and a hunt was readily arranged.

Last night the conspirators and their victim sat up late and talked over the plans. The hunt was not to begin until after 10 o'clock, they said, because the snipes did not leave home until that hour. The guest was to hold the bag and lantern for three hours. In the meanwhile the others with big sticks would herd the snipes and drive them into the bag.

On Punchbowl the party found a good place in the bushes. They gave the hunter two cigars to smoke and then left to hunt up the snipes. The young men then climbed down the side of the mountain and a half hour later were in bed.

The hunter stayed with the bag and the lantern until 1 o'clock. In the meanwhile he had become nervous and tired and sleepy and a bit suspicious. And when he called out loudly to the others and had no response he gave it up and started for home. On the way he thought of something, and when he arrived at the boarding house went straight to the room of the other young men.

This morning the young man got up very early. He had important business down town and could not wait for the other boys to wake.

BATTLE OF THE HELLOGIRLS

selves as directors and to the public of Honolulu demanded it. We have been put to great inconvenience and trouble to get the telephone system into proper and satisfactory working order and we propose to make every effort to place it on a high plane of efficiency.

"Some time ago Mr. Baily who was formerly with the company told us that the introduction of a new system which was made necessary by the induction caused by the addition of the new electric light system, would cost us $60,000. Mr. Cassidy said that for $15,000 the express system which is used extensively on the Coast, could be installed. Although the discrepancy in their figures was so great as to cause doubt as to the possibility of Mr. Cassidy being correct the directors naturally desired to save the difference if possible and Mr. Cassidy was accordingly sent to the Mainland in order to arrange for the introduction of the new system. He agreed to install it by a certain period but he has failed to accomplish this, and the board now wish that they had paid the $60,000 out in the first place and saved all of the subsequent trouble and annoyance. So far as Mr. Cassidy is concerned I will say that I am most kindly disposed toward him. We have superceded him it is true but he is at perfect liberty to accept a position as foreman with the company and I have suggested to him that he consider this matter before he revers his connection."

THE BRIGHT SIDE OF LIFE.

It is a feeling common to the majority of us that we do not get quite the amount of happiness we are entitled to in this world. Among the countless things which tend to make us more or less miserable ill health takes first place. Hannah More said that sin was generally to be attributed to biliousness. No doubt a crippled liver with the resulting impure blood, is the cause of more mental gloom than any other single thing. A chronic dyspeptic, says an eminent English physician, is always on the verge of a mental upset. And who can reckon up the fearful aggregate of pain and fear persons thus afflicted have suffered. You can see these people everywhere. For them life can scarcely be said to have any "bright side" at all. Hence the eagerness with which they search for relief and cure. Remedies like have not attained their high position in the confidence of the people by bald assertions and boasting advertisements. They are obliged to win it by doing actually what is claimed for them. That this remedy deserves its reputation is conceded. It is palatable as honey and contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. Nothing has such a record of success in Fevers, Rheumatism, Scrofula, Lung Troubles, all emaciating complaints and disorders, that tend to undermine the foundations of strength and vigor. Its use helps to show life's brighter side. Genuine only is effective from the first dose. "You cannot be disappointed in it." Sold by chemists everywhere.
